FRANCES STURGIS
WEDS AT BRILLIANT CHURCH CEREMONY

Miss Sturgis, who today became bride of Franklin Clark of New York.

A Great Machinery Market Is Boston

And the centre of this great market, in at least one particular, is that American concern headed "Machinery" in the "Went Ad" section.

This column forms the greatest medium of machinery exchange in Boston. Here manufacturers meet, and other equipment their plants have outgrown and bid for other machinery to meet their growing demands.

That's what is being done every day here in Boston. Moreover, it's what you can easily do. Test the efficiency of the method for yourself.

Take five minutes and prepare the description of some piece of machinery which you have decided to replace. And when the ad is in shape leave it with any of the American "Went Ad" Stations, the branch office at 264 Washington street, Main Office 80 Summer street, or

HART AND CURLEY Claims Share of Moen Millions

TELLS NEW MAYOR TO
'GO SLOW'

Boston's oldest ex-Mayor advises Boston's young Mayor-elect to: Go slow. Get the cobwebs out of his hair. Realize his great responsibility. Complete Mayor Fitzgerald's work. Be easy about the city debt. Not think of selling the Public Garden.

The man who gives this advice to Mayor-elect James M. Curley is ex-Mayor Thomas Norton Hart, known all over Greater Boston as "Tom Hart."

Mr. Hart will be eighty-five years old next Tuesday and he doesn't look it. With his chipper, sturdy walk, his merry, bright eyes and his sharp, brisk manner, the Dean of Boston Mayors seems as well, pretty much as he was when he was elected Mayor as the first time back in '78.

Mr. Hart sees high possibilities in the young Mayor-elect. He says: "Mr. Curley can make a great Mayor. I hope I shall live to see Mr. Curley make a great success of the office to which he has been elected."

WILSON
REVIVES
MYSTERY

Like a ghost from the past, Levi Wilson, who left Worcester in the eighties after being paid more than $100,000 by Philip L. Moen, the barbed wire king, has come back to open a new fight for a share of the Moen millions.

Wilson was a stable hand in Uxbridge in 1880 when one day he appeared at the Blackstone National Bank with a check for $2,000, drawn by Philip L. Moen. The bank telephoned Moen, questioning the check. Moen's reply was:

"Pay any check bearing my signature that Levi Wilson may present."

Instantly, Wilson sprang from the status of a tramp and stable hand to that of a millionaire. There was tremendous interest in the question, "Why does Moen give him the money?" But the true answer has never been told.

Bill Stops Sale of Firecrackers

The energetic youngsters of the near future will celebrate the Fourth of July in the dead-and-dumb language. Acting for Chief Justice H. Whitney of the State Police, (middle name "Bush"), Senator Johnson of Nahant has filed a bill prohibiting the sale or explosion of firecrackers loaded in whole or even "in part" with gunpowder. WHY I SHOT WM. E. ANNIS, By CAPT. PETER C. HAINS, JR., U. S. A.

Annis had invaded Captain Hain's home, had taken advantage of the Captain's absence on army duty. In justice to himself and for the sake of his children, Captain Hains now feels it his duty to take the public into his confidence, to lead them behind the scenes in his domestic life to show them the forces which worked the ruin of his home—and to let the public judge whether the death of Annis at his hands was justified.

WILSON OPENS NEW FIGHT FOR THE MOEN MILLIONS

fortune, and I am not at all interested in what he purports doing."

MISS MOEN EMPHATIC.

Miss Moen emphatically refused to discuss the case further, she would also give no indication of the nature of her hold upon the father while her father was alive.

"No, no," I refuse to discuss the case further," she declared. "The only business is nothing to me or to my father. Let him say what he will. I will be pleased. I refuse to be quarreled in my present-day life. He has never at two much interest in the past, as an old ally, and he is to be troubled with this."

Leaving no doubt in New York's mind, Wilson went to New York and called upon his son, J. P. Moen, Jr., who then left him and went to New York. Miss Moen then went to New York and called upon her son, J. P. Moen, Jr., who then left her and went to New York. She then went to New York and called upon her son, J. P. Moen, Jr., who then left her and went to New York.

"I do not know where my father is," the son said when interviewed in New York. "I saw him last about a month ago when he said he was going to Boston. He wanted to get a paper he had given my mother. He had given me a copy of it. I got it for him and took it to a firm of lawyers in the broad Exchange building. It was an assignment of part of father's interest in a trust fund that he had given my mother some time ago."

DENIAL FROM LAWYER.

A reporter called at the offices of Phanning Pollard, counsel for the Philip W. Moen estate in the State Mutual building in Worcester. Mr. Pollard was not in the city, but his brother, A. G. Pollard, who is familiar with the Moen family affairs, declared that there was nothing whatever in the assertions of Wilson.

"If there was," said he, "I would know it. There never was a trust fund. As for claiming the title to real estate, neither Philip W. Moen nor his son, Philip W. Moen, Jr., ever owned anything, and the estate was not much larger than the amount Wilson now says he claims."

The history of the strange case, however, when it was first published in a Boston paper, was supposed to have been the

STRIKE TIES UP THE DELAWARE & HUDSON ROAD

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 18.—The Delaware & Hudson Railroad is paralyzed by the strike order that called out nearly 2,000 employees early today. United States mail is piling up in stations all along the road, thousands of business men have been unable to get to their offices, manufacturers depending on the road have already begun to suffer, and 15,000 men and boys employed in the road's collieries will be thrown out of work.

The federal government has taken swift action in an effort to stem the tide of harmful consequences. H. W. Hanger, of the Federal Mediation Board, was hurried from Washington to New York the moment the strike news reached the capital, and will do everything in his power to settle the squabble between the union men and management as soon as possible.

Requests from various points along the road declare that not a wheel is turning.

"Nick" Burns who has charge of the strike on the Pennsylvania division says out the following figures: men on strike, Engineers, 200; firemen, 400; conductors, 375; trainmen, 240; telegraphers and telegraphers, 200. An important meeting of the strike leaders was held today at 10 o'clock at which time several employees are retained in the mill on tender of arbitration at this time.

Though the order was issued to take effect at 2:45 a. m., at some points the men struck earlier, refusing to take out trains that were scheduled to start at 2 a. m. The general obedience to the order caused the strike leaders to predict that before long the 800 miles of wreckage caused by the company would be completely tied up.

Longer trains, freight trains on the southern end of the railroad was paralyzed. No trains were taken after 2:45 a. m. Headquarters of the strike leaders were established at the Hudson House in Cantonville, Pa., with G. H. Sims, vice-president of the Board, in charge.

Mail train No. 305, which was scheduled to leave Albany at 7:30 a. m., was held up at Binghamton, when the employees refused to take it out. Efforts to get a crew of strike breakers failed. Train No. 303 left at 4:15 a. m. as usual, but as soon as it had gone to sell no more tickets were issued.

Reports from Montreal say that employees of the Grand Trunk were pressed into service to man the 1:45 a. m. New York train on the Delaware & Hudson Railroad as far as Route's Point. Three other Delaware & Hudson trains were held up. It was believed, may be named by the strike leaders, that the strike would be on the New York State line.

THAW'S SCORING STIRS JEROME NEW ACTION

unity is entirely outside the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts.

"NEW YORK, N. Y., Jan. 18.—The only possible effect of all this litigation and all these appeals," said a man close to the Attorney-General's office today, "is to delay Thaw's return to Mattawan. The case is a scandalous example of what money can do to manufacture delays in the administration of justice."

Thaw was not to Mattawan because, although he had killed a man and as deserved electrocution, his own counsel contended that he was a paranoiac—a mad with incurable insanity of a dangerous form.

"If the rights of wrongs of the case are to be discussed, there is only one side to it."

Our representative, Mr. Jerome, and probably Mr. Carmody, will go to Concord prepared to fight on either of two lines.

"If Judge Aldrich suggests releasing Thaw on bail—on the strength of the report that his insanity is curable—Mr. Carmody and Mr. Jerome will argue that paranoiac is a form of insanity, and that it is incurable. That is a brief observation—covering only a few days—could not discover the insanity; and that argument, if Thaw is released, could be expected to result in another mad-droom outbreak."

If Thaw was a paranoiac at the time of the crime, his insanity is incurable. If he wasn't at the time of the crime—then he should have been electrocuted.

PLAN TO RUSH CASE.

"But if Judge Aldrich confine him, it is to the facts which come naturally within his jurisdiction, then he will only consider the question: 'Are the Thaw's requisition and extradition papers regular and in good form?' If they are—Thaw comes back to New York."

There is a brand new determination in the New York State camp and there is a feeling that the case can now be rushed to a complete conclusion. Jerome plans to plow through legal technicalities and feigning delay, and so force his way to the final decision, which he believes must be acquittal.

The New York officials—who have the direct backing of the State Legislature—plan to press the conspiracy charge against Thaw, with all the strength of the law. It is expected that once held in New York, he will be promptly brought to trial on this charge. His counsel, they say, to escape conviction is to plead insanity. A madly sane man would then examine him—and Jerome is confident Thaw would again be declared insane.

POLICE HAVE RUNNING FIGHT WITH BURGLARS

Following a chase of several blocks over foot, through streets and alleyways into the Boston & Maine freight yards off Rutherford avenue during which several shots were fired by policemen, one of three men who broke into the dry goods store of Mark Benjamin at No. 187 Main street, Charlestown, was captured and the other two escaped.

The prisoner gave his name as Patrick F. Boherty, thirty-one, of No. 25 Oak street, Charlestown. He was valued at $150, which is said to have been stolen from Benjamin's store, is alleged to have been found on him, and he was locked up at the City Square Station charged with breaking and entering and larceny.

The men were seen emerging from the store by a policeman. They ran down Main street. He gave chase and when they refused to stop he opened fire with his revolver.

MRS. CAMISE, dismissed as a teacher in New York public school because she was married.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Should public school teachers be allowed to marry and keep their jobs?

This question is attracting widespread interest since Mrs. Jeanette V. Orman appeared to the board of the city of New York to help her in her fight with the New York Board of Education. She was dismissed from her position because she was married when appointed, and because she concealed her marriage at the time.

This is Mrs. Orman's appeal: "I appeal from the decision of the Board of Education to the justice of the community. The board found me guilty on two counts. First, that I was a married woman when I was appointed to my position; second, that I concealed my marriage. I married a crime equivalent to a violation of felony? Or has the Board of Education found that marriage is a woman for teaching? If it has not such proof, it is justified in interfering with my rights as an American citizen to marriage and motherhood."

"I claim that the action of the board in any case was an intolerable interference with my rights as a citizen. I claim that if the right of marriage and motherhood are to be secured to the citizen, the right of happiness has been made a mockery by the Board of Education."

"The second charge against me, that I concealed my marriage, I announced my marriage to my family and my friends. It was known to hundreds of people—I did not announce it to the board. I did not announce it to the board. I did not announce it to the board."

FLETCHERIZE! Eat Slowly and Save Your Soul FAST EATERS BEWARE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—If you want to go to Heaven, Fletcherize.

Reduced to tabloid form this is a warning sent out by Dr. Louis R. Welmiller, physical director of the West Side Branch of the Y. M. C. A. He says:

"Heaven, to quote the Scriptures, is a place for him who overcomes. The man who indulges in the quick-lunch and the hurry-through-breakfast habits is in no condition to overcome either himself or the devil. Don't try to cheat nature by forcing half-chewed food down with a sip of coffee. Heaven, in my opinion, is a place worth reaching, and if proper eating helps you in the race, then it's wise to eat properly."

CONGRESS TO GOVERN SAFETY OF RAILROADS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—An agreement has been reached between the Interstate Commerce Commission and Democratic leaders in Congress to regulate the railroads to be taken by the railroads for the safety of passengers and employees.

A special report made by the commission recently on a railroad wreck in Georgia largely was responsible for the plan. In the report the commission showed that nine persons were killed and 380 injured, last November, when a passenger train on the Central Railway of Georgia went off the track because a rail was broken. This rail, it was shown, had been in service on that track nearly thirty-one years and was found in a distance of 430 feet and five spikes were pulled out by hand from under one rail, in the vicinity of the wreck, according to the report.

Details of this sort will be used by the House committee, it is declared, to justify the extension of the commission's authority to investigate railroad tracks, equipment and facilities used in interstate and foreign commerce as well as any other matter affecting the safe operation of trains.

The Changing Age

Girls and boys from 14 to 19 years of age undergo physical changes which tax their strength to the utmost and the strain is always apparent from pale cheeks, colorless lips and tired bodies—some of the signs of the change.

Budding into womanhood and manhood, with the duties of school or business, demands concentrated strength, and is really convertible into two blood-cleansing, energy and strength, and the best thing for the young is to take a course of treatment in the medicine known as "The Changing Age."

"The Changing Age" is a natural, safe, and effective treatment for the young. It is a natural, safe, and effective treatment for the young. It is a natural, safe, and effective treatment for the young.

BOSTON MAGNATE, JUST HOME FROM COAST, SAYS FEDERALS ARE NOT

SMITH BETTER THAN JOHNSON, SAYS BUCKLEY

By JACK CONWAY.

"GUNBOAT" SMITH has not fought himself out of a job after all. He will take on Jesse Willard July 4 and will wait for either Sam Langford or Jack Johnson.

Jim Buckley, Smith's manager, will probably refuse to match the gambler for a tumbler with Langford as Smith has already one victory to his credit over the "Big Boy". He also believes that Smith would be able to vanquish Johnson easier than he would be able to beat Langford.

When Buckley was in Boston recently, the writer had a long chat with him. During the course of our conversation Buckley declared that Johnson is a dead issue in the heavy-weight division and that Smith would be able to defeat him.

In discussing the matter Buckley said:

"On his day, Johnson was a wonderful boxer. He has a remarkable physique and when he was in condition he was a hard man to defeat. Jack was a sterling boxer while his smashing right hand appeared usually played havoc with his opponents."

"Johnson, however, cannot expect to keep fighting long. He is now almost thirty-five years of age and has been earning a livelihood with the heavy ropes for fifteen years."

"History proves that the average boxer begins to go back after he has passed his twenty-fifth year. Johnson was an exception to the rule. It was at his best five and six years ago but since that time he has been going back. The heavy-weight champion has not fought very often during the past five years and inactivity is doing him harm."

"Smith living here in New York and causing him to take on a great deal of weight."

"When a boxer is in his early twenties, it is not a difficult task for him to remove superfluous flesh. It is almost impossible to do this, however, when a man is well along in his thirties. He lacks the strength and ambition which the young boxer has when he is young and is unable to train properly."

"JOHNSON now weighs close to 250 pounds. I am informed that he breathes with difficulty after doing light boxing on the stage and that his movements are slow and awkward. Therefore what chance would he have of winning if opposed by a quick, nimble, ambitious young athlete like Smith who is one of the hardest hitting heavyweights in the world?"

"The answer to this question is very simple. Johnson might be able to keep the gunner at bay for a few rounds but after Smith scores a few hard punches the champion would be forced to take the count. There are many people who claim that I over rate Smith. They assert that as I am his manager I am unable to see the strong points in his opponents."

"DISAGREE with this class of individuals. I have always considered Smith a wonderful piece of fighting machinery and I believe his record will back up my statements. Jim defeated several white heavy-weight champions of prominence with the exception of Carpenter and I am certain that he is the Frenchman's master."

"Gunboat" also won a decision over Sam Langford and even though he is afraid to enter a ring with the "Big Boy" Smith is improving in his boxing each day and when he meets Johnson for the first time I am confident that he will be fit for the battle and a far better performer than the Galveston man who has been traveling down the slide for a number of years."

Gunboat Smith to Box Willard July 4

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—Willard and Gunboat Smith are to battle here July 4. Tom Jones, manager of Willard, today persuaded Jim Buckley, manager of Gunboat, to agree to a match by making the New York man fight for a round trip ticket from New York to San Francisco if the Gunner would meet Willard.

IRISH AMERICAN GAMES WILL

FOR THE HARVARD TRACK TEAM

HARVARD TRACK TEAM TO ENTER BIG T.A. MEET

Harvard will enter its full team of athletes in the Irish American A. Games at Mechanics Building a week from Saturday evening. The contest, coming as they do one week before the U. S. A. Games, will be an official tryout, especially for the members of both relay teams.

Headed by Captain Billy Barron, the 300-yard relay team and the 400-yard team will be entered, besides representatives in the different events. As yet Manager Hopkins of the Irish American club has not succeeded in matching up the Crimson against any competitors, but at the present time line are out for the best Harvard four to meet an All New England combination over the Boston route, while the longer team will in all probability be matched against the crack Celtics.

Captain Donovan has not selected his team, but, according to the well known trainer, he wants to meet the strongest combination available. It will not be long, he figures that Harvard will have a tough race against the Celtics in the U. S. A. Games and he wants his runners thoroughly fit.

The runners who will race the relay for Harvard are: Barron, Eddie Mahan, Ralph Brown, and Eddie Mahan. They are going well and Eddie Mahan looks to prove himself almost as great a runner as a football player.

Harvard's best runner is an old well known to athletic followers and is "running better than ever this year" in the hands of Brown, the Yale crack. Rock and Stone also have shown good work.

In the open events Coach Donovan will enter a string of runners in the quarter mile novice and half mile events, while Charlie Brinkley, "Rock" Hardwick and Storer will be entered in the short running events.

Coach Donovan is trying to induce the Eastern quartet to meet Captain Fechner's combination.

BOWLING FACTS AND COMMENT

The National Duck and Caudin Bowling Congress will meet in Worcester tomorrow afternoon to make early arrangements for the big annual tournament, which will be held in the White City in May.

Although the season is quite young yet, present indications point to a fight between Chaucy and Torleton for the City League championship. Outside of Somerset, the other teams are hardly conceded a chance. But stranger things have happened.

At the outset it looked as though the Somerset boys would be in the race to the end, but their early season sprint only served to put them off from the real test come.

Dr. House is still showing the way to the individual bowlers of the Amateur Boston Pin League by two points over the Oxford team of Lynn.

Colonel now leads the Amateur Boston Pin League by two points over the Oxford team of Lynn.

It will take some pretty hard playing on the part of runners-up in overall standing about fifteen men who leads the A. O. U. W. rollers with an average of 184.

Perry Griffin is not having things all his own way in the City. Bill Lewis this year by any means. Piles his own the second top pin roller by three points.

The matches in Littlefield's All-Star League Thursday will be Chaucy vs. Somerset, Revere vs. All-Stars, Chaucy vs. Revere, and Adams Square vs. Federal.

500 ATHLETES TO BATTLE IN ARMORY GAMES

More than 500 athletes are entered for the track games which will be held Saturday at the South Armory under the auspices of the Massachusetts A. C. C. Among the entries are numbered several record holders of the A. A. U. and with more than 275 men entered for relay races alone, the meet should be a successful affair.

The largest event of the evening, the 600-yard open scratch run for the Jeff trophy, has aroused considerable interest. Many stars have already entered for this event, and the winner will have to run close to forty minutes.

Tom Halpin of the H. A. A. is looked upon as the possible winner of this classic although "Bill" Brinkley of Harvard figures of Harvard.

The twenty-five yard open dash will bring several of the local good boys into the limelight. Frank V. A. A. formerly of the B. A. A. who is now running unattached, McKenzie of the R. A. A. Wilson and Wilcox of Tech and Judge of Revere High, who won the open 100-yard dash in the last M. C. A. meet, will all be seen on the Armory floor in the midst of the anticipated racing.

The reliable Oscar Holland will appear in the mile run. He will be opposed by Curran and Plummer, both of Worcester, the former of last year.

Harry Barwise and Johnstone, both of the B. A. A. are entered in the high jump this year.

JOHN I. TAYLOR SEES NO HOPE FOR FEDERALS

Vice-President John I. Taylor of the Red Sox, who has just returned from a vacation on the coast, does not believe the Federal League will succeed as a major league. In the first place, he says, they are not known well enough. He also believes that they will not be able to stand the outlay of money which is necessary to set up a baseball club of major league caliber and build a park in which to play.

"But on the coast they have hardly been heard of yet," said Mr. Taylor. "It is said there is $125,000 of Federal League money for the Chicago plant, but anyone knows that in a pretty small figure to invest in a ball park at all. The park is being built and equipped now."

"The Boston Athletic Association and Young Men's Association of Boston have secured a lot of new money from a new set of owners, and they will be able to stand the outlay of money which is necessary to set up a baseball club of major league caliber and build a park in which to play."
